Prime Minister's Chief Science Advisor's annual report released today

The Prime Minister's Chief Science Advisor, Sir Peter Gluckman, has today released his annual report. This annual statement of activities summarises the functions of his Office over the course of the preceding year. It also serves to signal the key areas where he will invest his efforts going forward.

Sir Peter cites the development of the country's first ever Science in Society Strategic Plan as a key multi-sectoral achievement. Together with better understanding of risk and resilience in the New Zealand context, science in society is an area that he would like to develop further over the coming months.
